

#WATERIS: A Family Affair

Dossier de la rédaction de H2o
September 2015

This captivating new portrait series, commissioned by UNICEF, documents the various ways families around the world access and use water, and their relationships with the precious resource. Published in parallel with World Water Week, the collection serves as a valuable reminder of the central role that water plays in each of our daily lives.

Troubled water, How access to clean water differs for families across the world by Matt Petronzio.
